

OREGON WILLAMETTE VALLEY

PATRICIA GREEN CELLARS NEWBERG

OVERVIEW | Patricia Green and Jim Anderson, who had worked together at Tori Mor, purchased the Autumn Wind Vineyard in the Ribbon Ridge district of Yamhill County in 2000 and started Patricia Green Cellars. With 52 acres nestled among some of Oregon's finest vineyards (Beaux Frères, Ridgecrest, and Brick House), plus a complete operating winery, Patty and Jim are now produce a range of pinot noir of beauty and elegance intended to work on the dinner table.

VINEYARD AREA: 52 acres
ANNUAL PRODUCTION: 8500 cases
SOIL TYPES: willakenzie
GRAPE VARIETIES: pinot noir, chardonnay, sauvignon blanc

VINEYARD/CELLAR PRACTICES | The 52 acres of the Patricia Green Cellars Estate property were first planted to grapes in 1984, and many advances have been made in the understanding of the requirements of the Pinot noir vine in Oregon since then. Patricia Green brought many new viticultural practices to the Estate Vineyard, while making wine primarily from other vineyards she had been managing for the 2000 and 2001 vintages. By 2002, the Estate Vineyard was producing much improved fruit, and formed a pivotal part of the Patricia green Cellars wine lineup for the vintage.

26 acres of Estate Vineyard are planted in 13 blocks, each with its own characteristics:

The two "Etzel" Blocks are named for Beaux Freres' owner and winemaker, Mike Etzel, and ajoin the Beaux Freres Estate Vineyard. The blocks have improved so much in quality of fruit produced that Patty plans a 2003 "Etzel Block Pinot noir made from the east and west Etzel blocks.

The Halejulah Block is named for "Halelujah, the Pinot gris has all been replanted to pinot noir. It was quite a job.

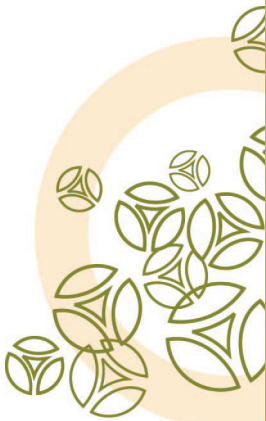

"Grapes of Wrath" Block has been regrafted to Pommard Pinot noir and is a tough block to manage.

Confluence Block is so named because it sits at the confluence of the Beaux Freres, Whistling Ridge, and Patricia Green vineyards.

The Winery Block is used to make the Patricia Green Cellars "Oregon" Pinot noir. It sits right next to the winery building.

The vines of the Estate Vineyard are planted to a 5 x 8 spacing with some 5 x 6. The trellis used to be Geneva Double Curtain but has been changes to a single wire vertical trellis. In 2001, the East and West Etzel, and Grapes of Wrath blocks were regrafted to Pommard clone Pinot noir. Throughout the Estate Vineyard, Pinot noir clones 115, Pommard, Wadenswil, and 114 are planted, with Pommard making up 70% of the vines.

WINES | Sauvignon Blanc, Chardonnay Four Winds, Pinot Noir Estate, Pinot Noir Estate Old Vines, Pinot Noir Croft, among others.
